Amazon Adds First Electric Trucks to Its European Fleet

April 4, 2022 - 9:27 am - Fleet Management

In a move to add electric trucks to its fleet, Amazon has launched five DAF CF Electric HDVs on Britain's roads for the first time in Europe. The 37-tonne DAF HDVs are operating out of its fulfilment centres in Tilbury and Milton Keynes, with Amazon estimating they will replace up to 100,000 annual diesel road miles, reducing its carbon emissions by 170 tonnes of CO2.

"Amazon is one of the first companies in the world to put electric heavy goods trucks on the road. We're committed to becoming net-zero carbon by 2040, and this is a milestone as we continue to decarbonise our transportation network so we can deliver more customer orders using zero emissions vehicles," said John Bounphemy, Amazon UK country manager.

The DAF CF Electric is available as a 4x2 tractor and as a 6x2 rigid truck and comes with steering trailing axle for maximum manoeuvrability. The 210 kW electric motor draws its power from a 350 kWh battery pack. Full charging takes around 75 minutes, using a charging station with a capacity of 250 kW.

"We are excited to bring the DAF CF Electric HDV into Amazon's fleet and support their commitment towards the Climate Pledge. The DAF CF Electric truck represents an important step in the industry towards zero emission middle mile distribution," commented Eelco van Veen, DAF Trucks director fleet sales.

DIGITAL EDITORIAL

SPONSORED STORY

Each comes with up to 500 words of content and two images. This editorial feature can have three unique back-links. A story needs to appear as part of the latest news feed before migrating to the pre-selected news section of our homepage. As T&L works with multiple news agencies this needs to be written as a third person news story and we can help with that.

WHITE PAPER/EXTENDED FEATURE

Each comes with up to 1000 words of content and four images. This editorial feature can have five unique back-links. A whitepaper or extended feature needs to be entirely supplied and approved. It must meet our own editorial requirements and cannot conflict with the style of T&L. We can help with that.

VIDEO FEATURE

Each comes with up to 500 words of supporting content alongside your unique video. The video needs to be added to an external source we can link to. These are the most popular features with our readers and videos should be no more than sixty seconds for maximum effect. We can help with examples of that.

We can share your digital editorial within a weekly magazine newsletter which goes out to over 65,000 subscriber emails. This newsletter is opened by over 21% of these subscribers in the first 24 hours and this is how they received the digital copy of the monthly T&L magazine. We share your digital feature across social media included in the our rates.
